

Letron “LTrain” Brantley’s Bio

Letron “LTrain” Brantley is a native of South Carolina. He has been an actively performing as a saxophonist since he was 12 years old. In his younger years, he was heavily influenced by Jazz, Gospel, and R&B music. He studied music in college which allowed him to hone his craft, as well as perform with various Jazz, Soul, and Funk groups. During his musical career, Letron has had the opportunity to perform with many great musicians and performers such as Jazz recording artist Bob Mintzer, saxophonist Lenny Pickett of the Saturday Night Live band, and Gospel recording artist Donnie McClurkin to name a few. Currently Letron serves as the musical director for a local jazz orchestra as well as band leader for the regional Jazz and Dance band, Jazz Revolution. Letron is an active music community supporter and clinician dedicated to the mission of embracing and encouraging musicians like himself to be persistent in their craft and always strive for excellence.