

WireWood Bio

WireWood consists of Laura Koelle (rhymes with "roly poly") and Keith Groover (rhymes with "hoover"), a cello/guitar duo from Greenville, SC. They specialize in original instrumental songs and unique covers of rock and pop songs. They play everything from Frank Sinatra to Bruno Mars to Metallica, and their own songs are just as varied. Even though they're "just" two acoustic instruments, they mix in percussion, harmonies, layering, and more to get a big sound that you'll need to hear for yourself.

Laura maintains a full private teaching studio and is also the music director for Grace & Peace Presbyterian. She also performs in several symphony orchestras both in South and North Carolina. Keith is the guitar professor at North Greenville University and is the music director for Grace Presbyterian in Spartanburg. Both are active freelance musicians.
