

Austin McNeill Bio

Austin McNeill was born and raised in Rowan County, NC, and has been chasing his music dreams since first finding his passion in a small Southern Baptist church choir.

Austin was chosen to be one of Tractor Supply's Emerging Artists in 2023 and had his breakout debut single "Ridin' Highways" featured during the 2023 CMT awards.

He is actively mentored by Dustin Lynch, a longtime idol of his. Austin shared the stage with Lainey Wilson and Dustin Lynch during Nashville's CMA Fest week and opened up for Kip Moore for the NHL's Draft Week.

Austin's sound ranges from country to southern rock, influenced by the likes of Toby Keith, Kenny Chesney, Jason Aldean, Lynyrd Skynyrd, and Blackberry Smoke to name a few.

Austin will be performing at the Grand Ole Opry in October 2023 and will be starring in a television series for Tractor Supply's Emerging Artists Program on the Opry TV network, "CircleTV" in the fall of 2023.
