

Cori Rose Bio

Cori Rose is a singer-songwriter and pianist performing a variety of pop, R&B, classics, and originals. Her passionate, soulful vocals come with pleasant piano accompaniment and she takes pride in putting her heart and soul into every song she performs. She had humble beginnings as a subway singer in New York City and has been performing professionally ever since in NYC, New Jersey, Charleston, St. Louis, and Charlotte. Originally donning a small Casio keyboard that allowed her true talent to shine through, she took her songs to the street and fell in love with music all over again. She became known as "the girl with the beautiful voice at 23rd Street," and once she moved to Charlotte she would finally be recognized as "Cori Rose." Performing under the famous Red Steps in Times Square, and The Performing Arts Stage on 42nd Street was just the beginning for her. Cori loves making people smile with her music and will bring something incredibly special to any event.